Power of the Pen and the National Writing Project at Kent State University present:

KERNELS OF WISDOM: THE STORIES AROUND US

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT FOR TEACHERS

Saturday, November 2, 2019, 9 a.m. to noon

White Hall, Kent State University

Cost: $30 Contact Hours: 3

Keynote speaker: Dr. Lori Wilfong, author of Writing Strategies that Work: Do This! Not That!

Join Power of the Pen and the National Writing Project at Kent State University for a morning of highly engaging sessions focused on bringing out the best in students' fiction writing. The keynote will highlight strategies for helping students of all grade levels find stories in every aspect of their daily lives. It is followed by your choice of two out of four breakout sessions, led by NWP-KSU teacher consultants Alexa Sandmann, Jeff Harr, Jean Kanzinger, and Barb Tschantz. One breakout session will be devoted to how to evaluate stories at a district tournament.

Ideal for anyone looking for new ideas to draw out the writer in every student; perfect for Power of the Pen coaches!

Online registration is open now at <https://commerce.cashnet.com/NWP-POP>.
